

MoGo Mouse Bluetooth

For those mobile people out there, who just can't get to grips with the standard laptop touchpad mouse and get annoyed having to delve deep into their laptop bags to retrieve their tiny wired mouse, you should opt for a MoGo Bluetooth Mouse. This flat mouse that has a lever system that props up and supports the mouse, slots into your PC card slot on your laptop for storage and recharging.

The MoGo Mouse is the size of a credit card but functions like a normal mouse giving you the control that you need when using your laptop. It will recharge in less than an hour so you will not be long without it if you do run out of battery life. If your laptop doesn't support Bluetooth you can get yourself a USB based Bluetooth dongle that will then support your Mogo Mouse. A great gadget for a truly mobile solution.

Saw this and couldn't quite believe that it would work. But looking into it further it's such a great idea. Looks cool as well
