

MoGo Mouse X54 Fits Media Functions, Scroll Pad Into Small Package

Newton Peripherals is back with its second iteration of the MoGo laptop mouse, this time adding dual lasers, media browsing capabilities and the scroll function we longed for.

The card-sized Mogo X54 connects to your laptop via Bluetooth, and uses the ExpressCard/54 slot to charge. The X54's media function allows you to play, pause, and adjust the volume of your favorite media player. A pro version with presentation functions such as next slide/previous slide and a laser pointer is also planned. The Mogo will hit stores in August at a price of $79.99. At that price we'll look, but we might not touch.
